A Little Late
But Here They Are.

$13 OVERCOATS FOR $10

The times have brought about a curious state of things and among them is the desire to wear stylish and well made garments at prices which a short time ago would buy only a fair article. Realizing this fact we ordered extra style and fabric put into our $10 Overcoats. They are made both in blue and black, the fabric being a fine finished Beaver. This coat should be seen to be appreciated, as it is actually worth $13.

Our $12 Overcoats

are hummers. They are made from FINE KERSEY, either black or blue, stylish length, full shoulder, and lined with fine black lasting. The seams are turned in, stitched back and bedded, giving them the appearance of strap seams; and no tailor can give you better fabric or more style for $23.

Instruction in millinery will be given by an experienced milliner, to the members of the Girls' Friendly Society, at the parish rooms of Christ Church, on Saturday evening, Oct. 23, at 7:30 o'clock.

Thought in the vestry of the Free Church, the society of Christian Endeavor will hold their tenth anniversary celebration. A most pleasing program has been arranged.

Prof. Ralston will open a dancing class in the Town Hall next Wednesday evening. The reputation of Prof. Ralston as a dancing teacher is sufficient guarantee of good instruction.

The Juvenile Missionary Society will hold its annual fair in the West Church vestry, Friday evening October 20th. Exercises will be held in the church at 7:30 P. M. The proceeds of the sale of vegetables, etc. will be for sale. Admission 10 cents.

While driving near Phillips Hill Monday just after dark, Fr. Lynch's team collided with the turnout of George Murray which resulted in Mr. and Mrs. Murray being thrown out. Both escaped injury but were shaken up somewhat. Fr. Lynch was going at a rapid rate, but he fortunately escaped injury.

The advance copy of the first issue of the Essex Antiquarian can be seen at the store of O. P. Chase. It is a neatly gotten up pamphlet, and the first number contains an article on the "Commercial History of Salem." The Abbots of Andover are treated at great length. Many subscriptions have been taken in Andover. Orders can be left with Omar P. Chase.

Lincoln Lodge, A. O. U. W. will hold a smoke talk and entertainment in the Pilgrim Hall, Musgrave Building, Wednesday evening, October 28. It is desirous that every member of the lodge be present next Wednesday evening. Tickets can be procured by members of the lodge. Past Grand Master Workman Edw. Mitchell of Salem, and Grand Foreman Louis C. Merrill, Concord, N. H., will deliver addresses. A short entertainment will be given.

The Good Templars held a very successful and pleasant box-party in their hall last Saturday evening. The attendance was not as large as was expected, but the sale of boxes was gratifying. A short entertainment was given, songs were rendered by Miss Smith and Walter S. Rhodes, piano solo by Otis Chickering and a reading by Frank Dean. At the conclusion of the entertainment, Walter S. Rhodes auctioned off the boxes and sharp bidding realized a fair sum to the treasury. The contents of the boxes were enjoyed as a collation.

The members of the singing class at the Free Church were given a rare treat Wednesday evening in the shape of a concert by vocalists whom Prof. Manning brought from Boston. Mrs. Childs rendered two solos "Angus McDonald" and "My Rose;" Mr. Hallock "Gay Huzzars;" Mrs. Childs and Prof. Manning gave the duet, "Nearest and Dearest;" a trio "My soul doth long for thee" by Mrs. Childs, Mr. Hallock and Prof. Manning and the latter also rendered a solo. Mr. Pratt played the accompaniments. The concert was thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by the class.

It is surprising that nearly every household in the country should be acquainted with the merits, virtues, and the healthful properties of Hires' Rootbeer. For years it has been the standard drink of those who enjoy a delicious temperance beverage. It tones up the system, helps nature, and is just what all need in hot weather. A package makes five gallons. Sold everywhere. Refreshing to tired palates in the campaign.

Three fair days this week broke the record.

The bathers are up for a fair house on Washington Ave. for the 2nd of Aug.

In our advertising columns today will be found the opening announcement of a new furniture store at 430 Essex Street, Lawrence. Andover people will be interested in this, because the proprietor is Fred P. Berry, son of J. Warren Berry, our well known townsman. It is Mr. Berry's intention to carry a complete stock of everything required in home furnishings and at medium prices. The store will cover four floors and a visit to his headquarters will repay anyone. The date of the opening has been set for Monday, Nov. 2. Mr. Berry's many Andover friends will wish him every success in his new venture.

State Examiner Ferguson held sessions in Lawrence this week and summoned all engineers and firemen in Andover to pass examinations for their licenses. A. W. Childrell is painting the red-wooded buildings of Rev. F. H. Johnson.

Charles E. Jenkins has recovered from his recent illness and is again at his desk at T. A. Hall & Co's.

Among the many who enjoyed the Republican Club dinner were Peter D. Smith, John W. Bell, and Joseph A. Smart from this town.

C. F. Parker, the well-known fruit man, has packed five hundred barrels of apples for the foreign market.

Andover Lodge L. O. O. F. will work the initiatory degree on two candidates at their meeting Monday evening. A full attendance of members is desired.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stratton, who for several years have given instruction here on the banjo, mandolin and guitar, have by advice of Mr. Stratton's physician, decided to make their home here this winter. They have taken rooms at the Merrill house, corner of School and Abbott Streets, where they will be glad to receive old and new pupils.

The attractive store on Town-house Avenue seems now to have its permanent home in the "Andover Antiquarian." The "Antiquarian" has fitted it up with all the attractiveness that pretty pictures and dainty things can produce. And he is sure of a generous appreciation of his efforts. His picture framing and art goods store has long been headquarters.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Free Church observed its tenth anniversary last Sunday evening with a special meeting. John W. Bell on behalf of the original members, presided, and a splendid address was given by Rev. W. E. Wolcott of Lawrence. A letter was read from Rev. F. H. MacFadden of Springfield under whose patronage the society was organized. Special music was rendered.

The Frye Villagers defeated the Turnpikes in an interesting game last Sunday evening. The score was 6 to 4. The feature of the game was the tackling of Lawson and the good playing of Ritchie at quarter back. The touchdowns were made by Ritchie and Schofield for Frye Village; the former making a run of 50 yards. The team for Frye was as follows: 1st, Manning, 1st, Bell, 1st, Sparks and Miller, 2nd, Donald and Sparks, 1st, Smith, 1st, White, 1st, Lawson, 1st, Ritchie, 1st, Collins, 1st, Schofield, 1st, Soutar.

Republican Rally.

The town committee has just completed arrangements for a rally to be held in the Town Hall next Friday evening, Oct. 31st at 8 o'clock. The committee has been fortunate in securing speakers, and announce that Col. Albert A. Clarke of the Home Market Club, Boston, Hon. A. H. Washburn of Middleboro and Hon. William S. Knox, congressman from this district will address the meeting.

The speakers will arrive on the 7:30 train and it is expected that the Gold Club of Phillips Academy will do escort duty. A reception will be held in the Lower Hall previous to the meeting to which the town committee extends a cordial invitation to all sympathizers with the cause of sound currency to attend. During the evening the Campaign Glee Club will render several selections. The Andover Brass Band has been engaged to furnish the music and a rousing rally is expected.

Election Officers.

The Selectmen at their special meeting appointed the following officers for the November election:

HOCH DIE ANARCHIE!

New York Anarchists' Welcome to Gov. Albigeld.

[SPECIAL TO THE TOWNSMAN.]

NEW YORK, OCT. 21.
For the first time in recent years the Anarchists of New York have taken a hand in a Presidential Campaign. Saturday night they joined in an enthusiastic rally for their statesman representative from Illinois, John P. Altgeld. It was a great night for anarchy. All the prominent Anarchists, save John Most, were at the meeting to cheer for Bryan and Altgeld. On the stage sat these potentates of the red flag: Emma Goldman, John Feinabend, Henry Mass, Leo Flugel, Adolph Kramer, Harry White, and others. Every member of the International Club Freiheit turned out, and besides these Anarchists several prominent Tammany men were present, including John C. Sheehan. Gov. Altgeld appeared on the stage, arm in arm with Joseph S. Martin, his personal representative and advisor. Martin was for years employed as the "Lookout" for the Hawkins' Chicago gambling house. A "Lookout" is supposed to "pull in" the "victims". Besides these distinguished personages, there were others on the stage who wished they weren't there before the meeting closed.

Altgeld was given a great ovation. His speech was the longest yet delivered here during the campaign. It would occupy about three solidly printed TOWNSMAN pages if printed in full. It was received with great enthusiasm by the anarchists and the other enemies of society present. The numerous falsehoods that were sprinkled through nearly every paragraph, only added flavor to the speech as absorbed by these people. When Mr. Altgeld stated, for instance, that since the introduction of the gold standard (that is from 1873) "the wheels of progress have stood still", the crowd roared its approval. When Mr. Altgeld mentioned the names of Mr. Schurz and Mr. Cleveland, the crowd howled, "To hell with Schurz! To hell with Cleveland—down with Cleveland!" The crowd hissed the Union Generals, who are campaigning out west for Sound Money, when Altgeld denounced them, and when he cursed at the Supreme Court they shrieked approval. Long after millionaire Altgeld had gone to his room at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, the "masses" in front of Cooper Union sent up the ringing yell—"Hoch die Anarchie!"

QUESTIONS OF THE HOUR.

Revolution.

[WRITTEN FOR THE TOWNSMAN.]

Vital as is the importance of the currency question, there are many who believe, after searching study, that other propositions of the Chicago Platform premeditate even greater harm. They are of the utmost moment for they propose to violate the spirit if not the letter of the Constitution. They threaten the very foundations of our Government. It is not exaggeration to say they are incendiary and revolutionary.

Anarchy and secession flame out in the proposition which seeks to abridge the authority and power of the President, and to again set up the claim, once proven false by powder and blood, that the governor of any state may refuse to allow the National Government to maintain law and order in that state. The Constitution says: (Art. IV, Sect. 4), (Art. II, Sect. 3).

"The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union a Republican form of Government and shall protect each of them against invasion or domestic violence."

"He (the President) shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed."

The Anarchy Plank of the Chicago Platform says:

"We denounce arbitrary interference by Federal authorities in local affairs as a violation of the Constitution of the United States and a crime against free institutions, and we especially object to government by injunction as a new and highly dangerous form of oppression by which Federal judges, in contempt of the laws of the states and rights of citizens, become at once legislators, judges and executioners."

This evil plank seeks to tear away the security which the government at Washington now guarantees to the life and property of every citizen in every state. It places innocent men and women at the mercy of riot and mob rule in any state over which an Altgeld or a Tillman sits as governor. From no less conservative and scholarly a source than Archbishop Ireland have we the following opinion of this pernicious provision:

"This movement which had its expression in the Chicago Convention and which now seeks by popular suffrage to enthrone itself in the Capital of the Nation, is in its logical effect against the United States. It is secession. The declaration of the Chicago Platform has and can have no other meaning. In these words there is told the secession doctrine that the United States are independent of the National Government at Washington; there is the annulment of the Union; there is notice served that the flag of America outside the District of Columbia is without the power of self assertion or self defense. The President of the United States is told that to enforce the National laws, and protect additional property, he cannot march his troops into any state without the authority of that state."

John B. Altgeld has never denied the proof that he was the author of this treasonable plank. William J. Bryan says: "It has my unqualified approval."

The most serious attack upon any government is that which seeks to annul necessary laws and menace the judiciary. No enemies of law and order have ever spoken more despicable words than those written in the Chicago Platform and spoken subsequently by its supporters, attacking the Supreme Court of the United States. At the head of the entire judicial system of the country now stands this court—the supreme authority, the last resort to which justice may be appealed. A few years ago a band of political tricksters in San Francisco prepared a Chinese exclusion bill which violated a most sacred treaty entered into by this country. This bill was actually rushed through Congress, and through intimidation, signed by the President. It would have defamed our Nation's honor if it had become a law. But it was sent to the Supreme Court by a minority of honorable men, and the Supreme Court rose to its duty. This Court is the most wonderful legal branch in the world. Presided over by men of the highest reputation and character, it has been a constituent part of the court that its members shall hold office during good behavior, until age or death shall remove them, and yet Bryan would revolutionize this system, and Bryan's second deputy, Tillman, boasts he would "take the judges of the Supreme Court by the throat." The Constitution says: (Art. III, Sect. 1).

"The judges both of the Supreme and inferior Courts shall hold their offices during good behavior."

Attacking the prestige of the Supreme Court, Bryan says with reference to the Court and its decisions:

"Our party is simply pledged to use all the Constitutional power which reposes after a Supreme Court decision, or which may come from its reversal by the court as it may hereafter be constituted. We are opposed to life tenure in a public service."

"From its reversal by the Court as it may hereafter be constituted" is a significant phrase. Altgeld and Tillman openly avow that it is their desire to pack the Supreme Court with creatures of their own behests. In this light we may profitably consider the words of Andrew Carnegie in the North American Review.

"The material prosperity of the nation is one thing; the preservation of the constitution, the provisions which insure the reign of law and order, and the right to contract, quite another. The rocks ahead with which the citizen has now to concern himself are the assault upon the Supreme Court. The great arbiters, whose decisions must be accepted by all, if there is to be peace, is not only assailed, but its independence, upon which just decisions depend, is to be swept away; its members are to be subjected to popular election, and dependent upon the number of votes for their places from time to time."

Prominent among Bryan's revolutionary and destructive propositions is his eager intention to undo the years of labor toward Civil Service Reform. The first Civil Service Laws were placed on the statutes by the Republican party, but for their enforcement and promotion, Mr. Cleveland and the wisest of the true Democratic party must beacknowledged the leading champions. Now comes the young Popocrat and proposes to destroy all this progress toward good government. Here are the platforms, sharp in contrast, and both fully supported by their respective leaders:

REPUBLICAN.

"The Civil Service Law was put on the statute book by the Republican party which has always sustained it, and we renew our repeated declaration that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended wherever practical."

POPOCRATIC.

"We are opposed to life tenure in the public service. We favor appointments based upon merit, the terms of office, and such an administration of the Civil Service Laws as will afford equal opportunities to all citizens of ascertained fitness."

For the first time since the war a presidential candidate has styled one portion of the United States, "the enemies' country." His foul-mouthed deputy in the South hisses out seditious words about the "effete East" and his western anarchistic companion yells fierce curses against the "vandals of Fifth Avenue." Bryan says: "We must find out what New York wants and do exactly the opposite." This sectional hatred of the west for the east has curiously had its origin in those states which would be financially benefitted millions of dollars by the free coinage of silver. Every pound of silver or under free coinage would be worth double its present value. While Bryan and his gang are cursing the "Eastern Plutocrats," they carefully avoid mention of the twenty-two western "Plutocrats" who alone own $547,000,000 worth of silver stock, and each of whom is worth an average of about $25,000,000. There is no sectionalism in an honest dollar. It benefits Maine no more than it benefits Nevada. The persistent appeal to sectionalism is one of the worst features of the Bryan campaign.

Bryan and Altgeld have continually endeavored to stir up class hatred. They have employed numerous catchwords and phrases, they have systematically deceived, even forging Abraham Lincoln's name to one of their campaign documents. A great cause does not require lies, or passion, or hatred to institute it. Bryan's aim is to create greater class distinction than ever before. He proposes an unconstitutional class tax leading to vast political corruption. Here are some recent sentiments uttered by prominent Bryan shouters:

"We are going to make a new Declaration of Independence. It is capital against labor, money against shoddy, against flesh. It is the House against the blouse, the company against the employee, the bank against the work bench, the clink of the dollar against the clink of the shilling. We have allied against us all salaried men, all ministers of the gospel, all bankers and heads of corporations. By the eternal, the masses will rule."

George Washington, speaking of appeals to class discontent, in his Farewell address, said:

"You cannot shield yourself too much against the jealousies and heart-burnings which spring from these misrepresentations; they tend to render alien to each other those who ought to be bound together by fraternal affection."

The Chicago platform threatens our most sacred institutions. Its chief promoters are dangerous men. Sedition and anarchy are the deep motives back of them. The constitution must stand! Revolution must be stamped out! One flag, one country, one bond of patriotism—these are the institutions honest men must vote for in the coming election.

HISTORICAL ANDOVER.

No. 45.

A LOVER OF FREEDOM.

On the South coast of England lies Hants County, crossed by the Ande or Auton, with old Southampton port at the mouth, which holds the Isle of Wight with its port of Yarmouth and its village of Newport. Up the River Ande on the hills to the east, lies old Romney from which Nicholas Holt moved down to the port for his trip westward. Across on the western slope lies Wherwell and Upper Wallop, that nurtured the John Osgood clan. Where the uplands slope down towards the River Thames and its canal system, lies old Andover and Middleton, and close in the north is Newtown, with Reading and Newbury just over the border on Berks Hills. West of Wherwell on the Avon in old Wilts, is Salisbury Plain and Stonehenge, with our Amesbury and Salisbury nests. Wilton and Marlboro, the home of Christopher Osgood, lies just beyond, with Dorset County and Dorchester along the West border, and a Farnham in the plain. East in Surrey, stands Farnham on the Wey, and just where the canal that unites the Wey and Thames, and five great roads lead off West and South, lies little Basing, Basingstoke and Basing Castle in 1645.

A country well wooded now, yielding corn, malt, timber and coal to support a population of over five thousand in 1881, in those early days it was under the wing of the Marquis of Winchester, whose great fortress included a Tudor palace. It was the "thorn in Parliament's side" hardest to remove, and the story of its four years' defence and block of the western roads, with the terrible scenes of its capture after six days constant cannonade, when the brave yeomen gave their necks to the sword Oct. 14, 1645, and their goods to plunder, are all in the history of the Civil War. Cromwell burned and carried away even the ruins of the old fort. A most ancient oval walled camp 1100 yds. in circumference with two entrances, shows that this fight was not the first one in the story of Basing.

Here in 1601, was born John Frye, whose name fric (liberty lover) shows the character of the stock in that corner of Wilts. When young John was five, Ben three, and Elizabeth a year along, John and Anne in 1638 sailed for Newbury. With them came Eicker Stratton who died at Fort Ann years later "to the Eastward." It is probable that Anne was a Stratton. What they were doing in those ten long years in Newbury is not at hand. Some say a son Robert was born there and went back to Wilts when a man, and Chandler gives the younger sons of the emigrant to this son, but the will showed that John claimed all the Andover Fryes as sons. Sara's birth was in the gap of fourteen years, but we have on record here only Sam of 1649 and James of 1652, with the death of young Sara in 1662. John Senior was a Selectman as well as a wheelwright, and his accumulation of acres and his ample provision for sons and daughters show good management. They must have buried little Anna, for no Anne comes to us till the grandchildren name the girls for grandmother, who went in 1690 before the witch-craze, John following her in 1696.

LIKE THE SEA LEVEL.

The Supply of Gold Keeps Even All Over the World Where Gold is Standard.

The inflow of gold into this country on account of the tightness of our money market is affording a sensible relief to business undertakings of all kinds, and if these are not disturbed—as there is every reason to think that they will not be—by so terrible a catastrophe as the election of Mr. Bryan, it is not improbable that in the coming winter and spring we may witness the advent of a prosperous condition of business affairs, compared with that which our country experienced in the year 1890. It may be well to point out that we are now having gold sent to this country because we are upon a gold basis. If, a year or two ago, we had descended to a silver basis, and there had been for any reason a contraction in the currency, the relief in gold that we are now receiving could not have been obtained. We are now in touch with the great mass of gold which forms the basis of the world's circulation. If for any reason we need more gold than we have—and this is determined by its earning powers, the rate of interest—and assurance is given that there will be no departure from a gold standard, the yellow metal will come to this country just as surely as water will run down hill. Other things being equal, the world's supply of gold is available for all gold using countries to make good a local deficiency in supply, so that, like the water of the sea, there shall be substantially a uniform level.

Her James was a Narragansett man and handed the Frye prowess along to a line of James Fryes.

Mr. T. C. Frye, who has supplied me with most of the matter for these sketches of his family, locates John's home at first South of the Bradstreet mansion. Later on, the deeds to his sons show that he held the sites of the Enoch Frye estate begun by Benjamin, with that of the Atkins, or the maiden Fryes' homestead planted by Deacon John and Sam, and the Raymond farm on the South, even then famous for its fine fruit. There where the old Claypit and Boston Hills open out a long stretch to the Eastern horizon lay the large holdings, afterwards including Farnham and Ingalls estates, lapsing to Frye sons-in-law through failure of male descent. Warrior James moved back to Nathaniel Peter's place where his boy Jonathan, the student and hero-victim of Indian wars, planted the Frye elm, so long a landmark.

Deacon John had lived to be sixty with Eunice Potter when his father left to the childless man, with honors to spare, "Dr. Preston-his works." John Senior goes "at a great age, with comfortable health," giving Eunice silver; Elizabeth, the wife of Robert Stiles, the only daughter, more pensive; and with Ben's shilling, goes 42 acres of the best land he had held to the last, "on both sides the highway that ran between his farm and Sam's" just as it does now down the hill over Boston Brook and out between Holt's and Boston Hill to the neighbors over the other side. Lonesome now, but then, when people had time to think, a happy wandering ground for the kin. The greeting at the old Frye homestead, still in the hands of Mrs. Fisher in Ben's line, and that of the Holt Farnham home after thirty-five years' absence, shows what neighbors meant in the early days.

Before I get through with this corner of our town, you will see how the hearts of the children of the old Farnham district turn ever homeward. The lands in many Frye wills are strictly entailed to be sold only to the kin forever; but the love of country brought the hands that won the houses to strike the blow that cut us off from old England, and with it went our entail and our Fryes. No one can stand in the Atkins home porch and look down those gruesome cellar stairs, without a pang that the old shell must go to strangers forever. Long may the last Frye stay at the old red house on the corner, lifted in 1734 and holding its sound ribs to storm and sunshine. When the Frye clan gather in Andover as they must soon, as things go now, there will be the centre of pilgrimage. John's orchard was to be left to James for seven years, then the other two were to share it. James was the tools and the old man's bedstead and the Little Hope meadow over by Indian Ridge, while Dudley Bradstreet, Joseph Lovejoy and Thomas Osgood of the Ipswich line locate his neighbors.

On the paper concerning William Chandler's license in 1689, as related by the Bailey History, John Senior leads the opposition with his four sons when the "dons of Andover" took sides. As Anna Frye, his granddaughter, married Ensign John Chandler in 1701, everybody had cooled down to good nature, and I secured one Frye grandmother. Ben's wife, Mary Parker, daughter of Joseph, shared her poor mother's mental infirmity in old age and the good Foster, Lovejoy and Carter neighbors help Great John and Capt. Nathaniel divide the estate with the Parker legacies added. Ben's son was thus distinguished from his cousin, John in Sam's household, because he weighed over three hundred pounds. He it was who built the red house in 1734 from his double portion. His brother Joseph died when he came of age, and Capt. Nathaniel who owned the Raymond farm, though marrying twice, left no children. Hester married an Ingalls, and Hephzibah, late in life, became the second wife of John Abbott of the Rowley line of Thomas.

While these were coming on, Capt. James, the Narragansett veteran, had wedded Lydia, daughter of John Osgood. Their son James took Joanna Osgood of the band of Tyler step-children in town, and moved across the Merrimack. Haverhill history relates his death at the hands of the Indians in 1717. Colonel James, the veteran of two wars, born in 1710, returned to us with his cousin Elizabeth Osgood. His large family of six daughters, with two sons (the Frye luck) will be carried out later.

James's daughter Phebe married Asa Swan of Methuen; Sara married

William Lovejoy of the South Parish; while Dorothy who married Capt. James Stevens, her brother's comrade, outlived this band of seven and is buried beside her husband under a cherub's head in the old North yard. She was called to suffering like her brother, the chaplain of Lovewell's fight. Abbott is in error when he gives the death of Capt. James, his wife and three children in 1738-39 from throat's distemper. Five children were taken, the two eldest daughters being married and in homes of their own, leaving three lads of 17, 11, and 6 to bring honor to the Frye and Stevens name later.

First a Mole, Then Cancer.

Probably no disease carries such terror in its path as Cancer—and well may this dreadful affliction be regarded with horror. In an alarming manner, it slowly but surely preys upon the life's blood, bearing the victim nearer the grave day by day. Beyond the use of the knife the physician is powerless, and too much cannot be said against the folly of resorting to the knife for a cure of this terrible disease. Cancer is in the blood, hence it is apparent to all that no relief can be expected from amputation. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the cancer promptly returns, if not in the same place, in the same locality, and is far more malignant than before. The same is true of attempts to remove the cancer by means of caustic plasters, etc., and all who have had this treatment claim that death cannot be more painful. But there is a cure for cancer—one which gets at the seat of the disease, and removes its cause. S. S. S. is the only real blood remedy, and cures cancer and all other blood diseases, even after other treatment has failed.

One of the well-known residents of Macon, Ga., is Mr. H. Powers, the contractor and builder, who lives at 515 Ross street. For twenty years Mr. Powers has suffered intensely from a cancer on his face, which was treated constantly, but grew worse all the while. He sought the best medical skill in vain, and could see no hope of ever being cured.

On June 22, 1896, he writes: "Twenty years ago, while being shaved, a small mole on my face was cut, leaving an insignificant sore, to which I paid little attention at first. This sore refused to heal, and after a while became quite obstinate, and began to grow. I placed myself under the treatment of prominent physicians, who said I had cancer of the most stubborn type, and though I took their treatment faithfully, the cancer grew steadily all the while, increasing in size and severity. I also took nearly every medicine that was recommended for the blood, and applied various salves and ointments, all without the slightest benefit. Year by year, I found myself steadily growing worse, for the cancer was sapping my life away, although I spent hundreds of dollars with doctors, and as much more experimenting with various so-called remedies. I was strongly urged by the doctors to submit to an operation, which they claimed was the only hope for me.

"I had well-nigh abandoned hope of ever being cured, when I was induced to try S. S. S., and even the first bottle afforded relief. The medicine caused the cancer to discharge, thus forcing out the poison, and ridding the system of it. I continued to take S. S. S. until the discharge ceased, and the cancer healed up entirely, and I am perfectly well. My cure is regarded as truly remarkable, and demonstrates what a wonderful remedy S. S. S. is. I shall take pleasure in always recommending it."

S. S. S. is the only remedy that gets at the root of all blood diseases, that all so-called remedies fail to reach. It is guaranteed.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1896.

The political situation this year is attracting attention such as was never before given to it. All kinds of newspapers and individuals who have never before publicly taken a decided stand upon political questions, are this year looking to have a partisan political coloring but this year we have been forced to yield to the pressure in a slight degree, and our New York letter has been a forcible weekly argument for the cause of McKinley and Hobart. Andover has a proud record in all questions of honor and patriotism and this year we look to see her stand for the sound money principle as a continuance of the same stand. Let every voter see that his name is on the check list; and then see that his vote is registered. Never mind, if Massachusetts is sure to make it emphatically so. Three names that should receive special care are those of Wm. McKinley for president, Roger Wolcott for governor and Wm. S. Knox for congressman. The Andover voter can do his duty in the present crisis by a loyal support of these worthy standard bearers.

The Andover Magazine.

The first women's publication in Andover deserves more than a passing word of commendation. It is no ordinary fair advertising sheet that has been produced under the above title and sold in connection with the South Church fair, but rather one of the most entertaining and attractive magazines that the ordinary reader could find. It is preeminently an Andover magazine from its attractive and quaintly lettered cover to the last line of the editorials. We cannot attempt to review all of the articles in the book, but the charm of several call for a few words more than general praise.

Mrs. Downs has contributed a dainty gem in the initial poem and the translation by Miss Watson and the contributions by Mrs. S. J. Bucklin also add to the general merit. Mrs. Carter's historical sketch of the Old Mansion House is very interesting as is also a similar review of "By-gone days in the South Church" by Mrs. Dr. Merrill. Mrs. Phelps-Ward sends a letter that shows her regard for Andover to be yet warm and other contributions from old Andoverians seem to tie the old Andover and the new. Miss Manning has an interesting letter from Germany and that is followed by a charming "Children's Page", "Household Hints" and "Editorials."

Miss Blake's artistic skill has contributed to the attractiveness of the pages in some very attractive sketches, all but two in the magazine being her contributions. There may well be pride in the first publication that bears on its title page as editors, Ida Merrill McCurdy, Julia Keese Drinkwater, S. M. H. Gardner, Agnes Park, Charlotte R. Pride and Julia Underhill Robinson.

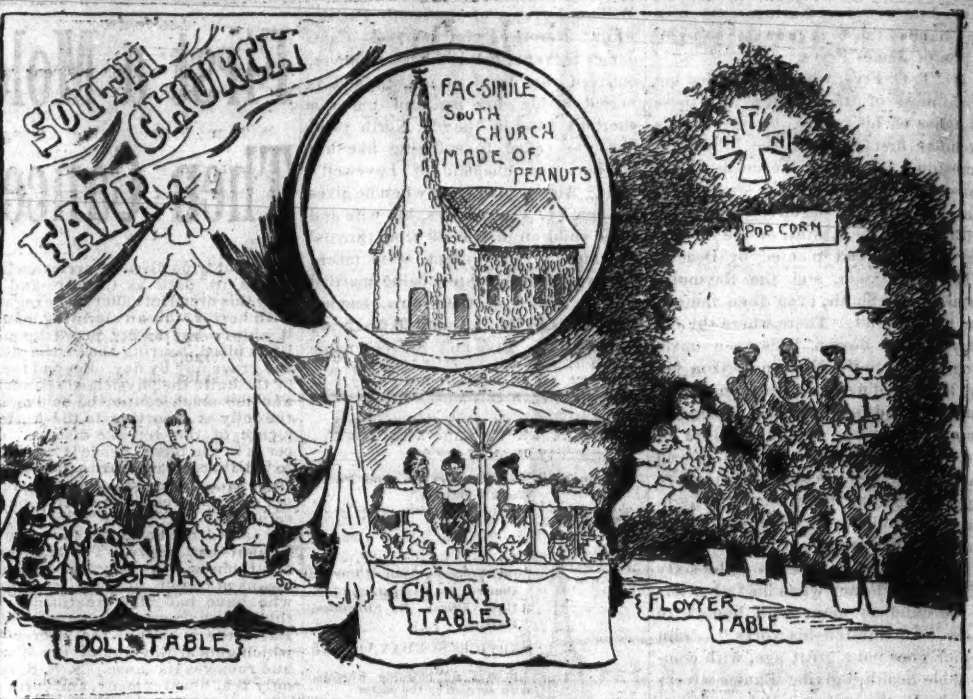

Editorial Clinders.

There is a good deal of satisfaction in writing "Volume X" at the head of a newspaper, and the TOWNSMAN is now experiencing that satisfaction.

The South Church ladies deserve the heartiest congratulations for the almost unparalleled success that has crowned their labors in their fair. When the women start look out.

All up for an Andover bonfire on Prospect Hill at 8.30 on the night of October 31. Now Republican Club do something, and if you will do it on Prospect Hill all the world will see your good work.

We know whereof we affirm when we state that Ayer's Pills, taken promptly, at the first symptoms of colds and fevers, arrest further progress of these disorders, and speedily restore the stomach, liver, and bowels to their normal and regular action.

The South Church Fair is now a large part of Andover's local history and there is but little left of it now but a pleasant memory, and a fatter pocketbook for the Church ladies. For many months the preparations have gone on and the two nights' success well pays for the long time labor.

The fair opened for business Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock and the attendance at that hour was an augury that the enterprise would be a success. The scene at the opening was beautiful, the tasteful and elaborate decorations, the gay and attractive displays at the booths the charming dresses of the ladies in charge, all presented an appearance which immediately caught the eye of the visitor. The first booth at the right on entering, seemed to draw the visitors at once. This was entirely given up to DOLLS.

Colors, white and blue. Mrs. David Shaw presided. Assistants, Miss Whitford, Miss Carrie Dean. Colored incandescent lamps added to the effectiveness of the decorations. Dolls of all sizes and at all prices met with ready purchasers. Just beyond this booth busy hands sold CANDY.

Colors, pink and blue. Mrs. Sarah A. Mason, presided. Assistants, Miss Lucy Mason, Miss Mary Mason, Mrs. E. A. Bodwell, O. P. Chase and J. Warren Berry. Here the sweet toothed found everything to their liking, and all kinds of confectionery from Lowrey's chocolates and bonbons to the peppermint lozenge would be had at "regular prices."

A splendid display, the opening night was found at the booth of FANCY ARTICLES.

Color yellow. Miss E. H. Foster presided. Assistants, Miss C. Foster, Miss Sarah Poor.

The Courteous Circle of King's Daughters had charge of the booth next to the fancy articles and named it POPCORNVILLE.

Evergreens and silver cross with purple letters I. H. N. Miss Abbott and Miss Lizzie Leslie presided. Assistants, Mrs. T. F. Pratt, Mrs. Shearer, Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. Fred Andrews, Miss Ella. Popcorn prepared in all its different ways sold like hot cakes. Potato chips made by the Boston Potato Chip Co. also commanded a ready sale. A specialty at this booth was the cocoa-nut butter put up in pails.

Extending across the front of the platform was the FLOWER TABLE.

Mrs. A. S. Manning, presided. Assistants, Mrs. Helen Carruth, Misses Arline Manning, A. L. Stork, Annie Johnson. The arrangement of flowers and potted plants on the table served to good advantage in their disposal. Ferns, chrysanthemums, palms, roses, carnations, in fact everything desirable for the bountiful. Two tiny tows, Florence and Marjory Odlin held sway, one at each end of the table and from their bowers offered their flowers for sale.

At the left hand corner of the platform a large tree had been erected which was loaded with miniature dolls which Mother Goose sold, and delivered through her bill. In conjunction with this was the

PEANUT TABLE.

Mrs. J. E. Johnson presided; Miss Jennie Abbott assistant. This table was the Mecca of the children and those in charge were kept busy at all times. They were assisted by little boys, in costume, who dispensed their wares throughout the hall. On the table was a model of the South Church built of peanuts which in itself was a feature. Twenty-two quarts of peanuts were used in its construction. Next in order came the

CAKE TABLE.

Mrs. J. W. Barnard presided; Assistants Mrs. Joseph F. Cole, Mrs. Burtt. There was no need for the epicurean taste of the cake lover to want. All kinds of cake, plain and fancy, were in abundance. The Scripture Cake, went like "hot cakes" and with it the receipt for making which is as follows:

Four and a half cups of 1 Kings 4:22; One and a half cups of Judges 5:25 (last clause); Two cups of Jeremiah 4:20 (sugar); Two cups of 1 Samuel 30:12 (raisins); Two cups of Nahum 3:12; One cup of Numbers 17:8; Two table-spoonfuls of 1 Samuel 14:26; Season to taste of 2 Chronicles 9:9; Six of Jeremiah 17:11; A pinch of Leviticus 2:13; Half cup of Judges 4:19 (last clause); Two teaspoonfuls of Amos 4:5 (baking powder). Follow Solomon's prescription for making a good boy, Proverbs 23:14, and you will have a good cake.

Under a huge Japanese umbrella was the CHINA BOOTIE.

Colors, White and Yellow. Mrs. J. Warren Berry, presided; assistants Mrs. Fred P. Berry, Miss Mabel Carter, Miss Berry. A splendid display of Japanese ware was attractively arranged and at prices which were just right seldom failed to find a purchaser. The dresses of the ladies in charge, white with yellow ribbons added much to the appearance of the booth.

APRON.

Colors, Red, White and Blue. Mrs. E. H. Valpey presided; assistants Mrs. Blackburn, Mrs. Roberts, Miss Blunt. Here not only aprons but many articles needed daily in domestic duties were offered for sale. There was nothing pretentious in the display but the usefulness of the articles commended themselves.

FRUIT AND CANNED GOODS.

Colors, blue and white. Miss Ellen Abbott presided. Assistants, Miss Elizabeth Giddings, Mrs. Walter Coleman, Mrs. John Holt. The tempting display of fruits of all kinds was too much for most of the visitors to resist, and the stock was replenished more than once to supply the demands.

Shut off from the turmoil by screens and made cozy with fancy rugs was the LITERARY TABLE.

Mrs. H. S. Robinson and Miss Demorest offered for sale the Andover Magazine and the merit of the book was a sufficient incentive for its quick sale. The editors of the magazine were Ida Merrill McCurdy, Julia Keese Drinkwater, S. M. H. Gardner, Agnes Park, Charlotte R. Pride. Business editor, Julia Underhill Robinson. Among the contributors were Octave Thane, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Ward, Emily Greene Wetherbee. A pleasing feature of the book were the illustrations which were done by Harriet Blake.

EASTERN CURIOSITIES.

In the ante-room of the North side of the hall, Dr. Selah Merrill exhibited a portion of his collection of Eastern curiosities collected by him while Consul at Jerusalem. It included birds, animals, trinkets, implements of war, and many articles of wearing apparel of the people of the Holy Land. The admission was ten cents and the exhibition was well patronized.

CRAFTED PARLOR.

The ladies of the Cranford Club convoked the ante-room on the other side of the hall into a charming parlor in charge of Mrs. F. E. Gleason and Miss Erving, and here lemonade and tea were served to the thirsty. At the

LEMONADE TABLE.

Miss Maud Cole presided, assistants, Miss Florence Kimball, Miss Towle, Miss Florence Abbott, Mrs. M. E. Gutterston. At the table, Mrs. F. H. Messer presided without assistance.

In the lower hall the wants of the inner man were fully looked after. Supper was served both evenings from six till eight, and ice and cake were in full demand. Mrs. W. G. Goldsmith, assisted by a competent corps of waiters, attended in a business manner.

Beside the host of attractions mentioned above, the committee engaged the Norma Banjo and Guitar Club of Lowell under the direction of W. E. Stratton, the well-known banjo instructor and Tuesday evening they rendered a program of spirited music in a masterly fashion. Their efforts were warmly applauded and they were compelled to respond to encores.

The fair opened again Wednesday afternoon and the children were especially looked after. The attendance of children was so large that the hall was completely crowded, but the little ones enjoyed the program which was prepared for them. All the participants did their parts in a clever manner. The night dress drill by sixteen little girls was an especially pleasing feature.

PROGRAM.

"The Daisies," Members of the Daisy Chain, Juvenile King's Daughters.
QUAKER SONG AND DANCE.
RECITATION, "Three Little Toads' Stools."

SONG, "I won't play in your yard." Ella and Margie Karcher.
TABLEAU, Japanese.
DANCE, APRON.
Frank Barton, Lottie Cox, Flossie Lindsay, Ethel Rowe, Howard Ball, Douglas Lindsay, Elizabeth Jewett.
TABLEAU, Columbia.
Fannie Erving.
SONG, "America." Mrs. Damon.
SONG, "I am only a little dirty girl." Ethel Rowe and Elizabeth Jewett.
NIGHT-DRESS DRILL.
Sixteen little girls.

The evening session threatened to be spoiled by the rain which in the early evening fell in torrents, but the clouds broke, the moon shone forth, and the hall was packed to overflowing. The tables which had been so plentifully stocked with wares were rapidly cleared and the faces of the ladies beamed at their success.

The entertainment consisted of a farce entitled "When angry, count one hundred," by E. Cavazzi. The two chief parts were taken by Miss Belle Butterfield and Wm. C. Damon. The other parts were taken by Mrs. Shaw, Dr. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Carlton, Miss Carrie Dean, Miss Hattie Dean, Miss Erving, Miss Mabel Carter, Dr. Leitch and Wm. Odlin.
So well had the ladies disposed of their wares that very little remained to be sold at auction. Wm. Odlin offered the South Church fair for sale and it was bought by F. E. Gleason for $4. A number of small articles were disposed of in the same manner.

Tuesday evening a shooting range was in full swing in the gallery, in charge of Ben Smith. The prizes were a pair of golf clubs and the competition was close. It was closed, however, Wednesday on account of the noise and also because the gallery was needed for other purposes. This caused considerable disappointment as many young men were waiting until the last night to put on large scores. Harold Manning won the clubs with a score of 156.
The desire of the committee in charge of the fair was to clear $700 and although all the money has not yet been turned in that sum has been exceeded. When all accounts have been squared the sum total realized will not fall very far short of $1000. The indefatigable efforts of the committee with the co-operation of the public made the fair a grand success.

Reception and Ball.

The first annual reception and ball of the Andover Colony of Pilgrim Fathers in the Town Hall, last Friday evening, was a pronounced success in every particular and one of the pleasantest dancing parties held in Andover for a long time.
The grand march was advertised for eight o'clock and at that hour Floor Director E. R. Barton and Miss Barton started off to the strains of the Andover Band Orchestra. Thirty couples participated, but in a very short time, one hundred couples enjoyed the well-arranged order of dances. The music supplied by the orchestra was the cause of much favorable comment. Visitors were present from lodges in Lawrence and neighboring towns.

The officers of the evening were: floor director, E. R. Barton; aids, Edward Burke, G. D. Millett, H. A. Morse, D. Donovan, Robert Lindsay; reception committee, Frederick Hulme, G. D. Millett, Isabella Morse, Elizabeth Hulme, Rose Richardson, H. A. Morse.

Accidents.

A painful and serious accident happened Wednesday forenoon to Thomas MacFadden, a plumber employed by William Welch, while engaged at work on the new residence of Harry Noyes on High Street. He was on the front piazza and while walking along, slipped and fell on the floor boards suffering severe internal injuries. He was assisted from his position and medical aid was summoned. Dr. Leitch was soon in attendance and had him taken to his home on Washington Avenue, where his injuries were attended to. He is progressing favorably.

Mr. MacFadden has been particularly unfortunate, as only a short time ago he was thrown from a train and suffered severe injuries.

Yesterday afternoon an unfortunate accident happened to Roger Sweeney, at the rear of his home on Main Street. He was engaged lifting the wheel of a heavy dump cart when the horses started up and the wheel passed over both of his legs. His left leg escaped injury but the right one was terribly crushed, five inches below the knee. Dr. Abbott was called and dressed the wound.

Theodore Smith, Jr., of Brooklyn, a member of the class of 1900 at Phillips Academy fell in the 880-yard run at the inter-class games on the campus Wednesday afternoon, and broke his leg. He was taken to Prof. Graves where he remains, and Dr. Abbott set the bone successfully.

George Mander severely cut his arm while trimming in the woods Wednesday. The axe caught on the branches, and struck his arm making an ugly wound.

While engaged in starting the engine at the Smith & Dove mills, Tuesday, Engineer Buchanan had one of the fingers of his right hand caught and broken.

While practicing last Friday afternoon, Brown, half-back on the second eleven, had his jaw broken in a collision. Quinby was not injured, all reports to the contrary.

School Children's Manners.

To the Editor of the Townsman:

Cannot the superintendent of our public schools devise some means to improve the manners of the school children? Boys make thoroughfare of private lawns, and when they are asked kindly to go round by the road, they laugh in the face of the person making the request, and keep right on. Not content with going cross-lots over one lawn, they jumped on the bulk-head of the house till some one appeared at the window. One lady was obliged to watch her fruit trees two days in order to have an apple to harvest. When she asked the boys to leave her lawn, they jeered in reply.

The writer has been a teacher and knows how difficult it is to make boys all they should be; has taught in towns where the mental and moral calibre of the inhabitants would be considered much lower than in Andover, and was held responsible by the superintendent for the actions of the pupils on the way to and from school.

The task of stepping stone throwing, snow-balling, loud and indecent talking, as well as trespassing, was no small one, but once it was accomplished it was a great benefit to the town.

Will not the superintendent of Andover schools back his teachers in a like crusade?

EX-TEACHER.

Revolutionary Soldiers.

STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, Oct. 19, '06.

Editor Andover Townsman: As considerable interest has recently arisen in regard to the record of revolutionary soldiers, I have copied the following record from the Archives at the State House, and would request that you will publish the same for the information of the descendants of Bixby Abbott of Andover.

Bixby (sometimes spelled in records Bigsby and Baxbye) Abbot or Abbott was born in Andover, Nov. 23, 1750, and died in 1813. His children were Hephzibah, William (of Greenfield N. H.) Col. Benjamin (of Andover) Betsey, Joseph, Henry (of Amherst, N. H.) Ann, Capt. Samuel (of Woburn) Nehemiah, of Andover, Timothy and Dr. Warren (of Bradford). Five of these children married persons named Bailey, four of whom were brothers and sisters.

The following record shows that Bixby Abbott served as a corporal, and that he was also in service throughout a considerable portion of 1775. From a statement given in Abbott's History of Andover (1890) it is probable that he was present with Capt. Ames' Company at the battle of Bunker Hill, as well as at Lexington, April 19, 1775.

The following is the copy of the records of his service found in the State House Archives:

RECORD OF BIXBY ABBOTT OF ANDOVER.
1. Bixby Abbott, Andover, Corporal, Capt. Benjamin Ames' Company, Colonel James Frye's Regiment, which marched on the alarm of April, 19, 1775. Service seven days.

2. Also on return of men in camp at Cambridge, May 17, 1775.

3. Also on company's return dated October 6, 1775.

4. Also order for bounty coat or its equivalent in money, dated Cambridge, Nov. 14, 1775.

BALLARD VALE.

Rev. R. T. Wilton will preach at the Congregational Church next Sunday.

Miss Mabel Nason is stopping with relatives in town.

Miss Lucy H. Holbrook has been visiting relatives in Providence, R. I., during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buckley of Lawrence spent Sunday with relatives in town.

Mrs. Carlo Morse and child of Bradford has been spending a few days with her brother A. A. Bush, Marlard Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Joslin have moved into John Howell's double house on Polo Hill.

Mrs. Oliver Coates has been visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. James Hudson, Marlard Street.

Lieut. Frank Chapin formerly of Co. H. 1st Mass. Heavy Artillery, was in town Thursday visiting his old comrades.

Charles Call of Clinton has been a guest for several days of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Matthews, Andover Street.

Rev. Arthur M. Shattuck of Brookline, N. H., has been spending several days with his parents on Chester Street.

Mrs. Herbert Nason of Somerville, and Mrs. Wilmet Pratt, Reading, were the guests of Mrs. Charles E. Davies last Friday.

Ballard Vale Lodge No. 105 will hold its quarterly meeting for the election of officers next Monday evening. A full attendance is requested.

Charles Greene, Howell Wilson and Dr. C. H. Shattuck attended the banquet last Wednesday evening, of the Mass. Republican Club at Music Hall, Boston.

The local G. E. Society will attend the Anniversary Social at the Free Church this evening. John Pray will convey the party in his barge, which will leave the church at 7 o'clock sharp.

Rev. Arthur L. Golden has accepted the unanimous call of the Union Congregational Church to become its pastor for one year, commencing November 1st. Mr. Golden will move into the parsonage sometime during the coming week.

Have you read in another column the advertisement of our new dressmaker? Miss Edna Brewer comes very highly recommended and as she guarantees perfect satisfaction no doubt she will receive the liberal patronage, which she deserves. Miss Brewer will open her dressmaking establishment the first of the month in P. J. Scott's store, Andover Street.

The following named persons have been elected officers of Royal Temple No. 40, for the ensuing quarter: C. T. Gardner Shattuck; P. C. T. Harry Nason; V. T. May Hendrickson; Sec. Sadie Clemons; F. S. Queene Clukey; M. Pearl Nason; C. Ethel Clemons; T. Lulu Hammond; A. Sect. Edward Hammond; D. M. Mabel Pearson; G. Charlie Shattuck; S. Willie Collum. The meetings of the Temple are held Saturday afternoons at 8 o'clock in the old schoolhouse, and are very interesting and it would amply repay the parents of the children if they would occasionally attend some of the meetings of the Temple and witness the progress that they are making in the work of the Order.

Notwithstanding the threatening weather there was a good attendance at the annual Harvest Supper at the Congregational Church last Wednesday evening. After a bountiful supper, which reflected considerable credit on the committee. Those present repaired to the audience room and listened to a very interesting entertainment consisting of reading, duets and selection by the choir. The Scotch selection by Miss Agnes McIntire and the duets sung by Stella Matthews and Elsie Herriock, and Nellie Dearborn and Alice Harrison deserve special mention. A humorous selection by Wm. Shaw telling of the trials and tribulations of several well known citizens was well received especially by the younger element present. The decorations were quite pretty. A violet found by Miss Lizzie Salmond was on exhibition and attracted considerable attention. Everybody enjoyed themselves and it was generally agreed that the supper was a complete success.

Foot ball.

Saturday afternoon the Phillips team won its second game, defeating the boys from the New Hampshire College 16 points to 0. The score was not as large as the home team expected to roll up, but Andover's line up was not as strong as usual. Elliot took his place at half again and played a strong game, making two touchdowns and kicking two goals. Burdick scored the other touchdown. Wheeler was tried at end and showed up strongly, especially in tackling. Quinby and Funk also tackled hard. The visitors were never dangerous except in the second half when by constant centre play they pushed the ball the whole length of the field but lost it on the five yard line.

To-morrow afternoon, Worcester Academy will play its annual game with Phillips Andover on the campus. Last year Andover won from Worcester eleven 4-0. Pierson will take his old place at centre for Andover.

In many cases, the first work of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is to expel the effects of the other medicines that have been tried in vain. It would be a saving of time and money if experimenters took Ayer's Sarsaparilla at first instead of at last.

CASH OR CREDIT.

Information for Ladies or Gents Credit Clothing Purchasers.

We don't find it necessary to pay our customers to recommend their friends to trade with us as our competitors feel obliged to do to get trade. Our customers continue to trade with us as they know by years of experience they can do so better elsewhere and they gladly recommend us to their friends, as they know we will use them well and give them better goods for less money and on easier terms, and show a much larger stock and greater variety of styles to select from than any other credit house. We warrant the color and wear of our clothing—we can afford to do so as we sell no cheap, shoddy or cotton goods, job lots or bankrupt clothing. We are the only house that clothes the entire family out of their own stock. Men, boys, ladies and children, we give easy terms without charging a cent for accommodations. We deliver goods promptly and make no troublesome inquiries about you from your friends. Our business is strictly confidential, and as we have a store and do a regular cash business no one knows how you do your trading any more than in any other store. We should like to give in every business today, and it is nothing to feel ashamed of any more than to get trusted for groceries, meat, rent, furniture, or sewing machines. Come and be convinced of the absolute truthfulness of every advertisement we print and the absence of a humbug in the way of schemes.

Our Fall and Winter Clothing is now ready. Call and open an account at once. Thanking you for past favors, we hope by fair dealing and close attention to your wants to merit a share of your future patronage. Respectfully yours,

SELECTING A Rector.

Father Conaty Likely to Be at Head of Catholic University.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Rev. Father Conaty of Worcester, Mass., president of the Catholic Summer School of Philosophy at Plattsburg, N. Y., will, in all probability, succeed Bishop Keane as rector of the Catholic university in this city. His was the first name selected of three to be submitted to the pope, and his selection came with such unanimity, and will have such strong endorsement in the letters conveying the action of the university directors to the pope, that no doubt is entertained as to his selection. The others named on the list of three, to be sent to the pope, are Very Rev. Vicar General Mooney of New York and Rev. Daniel J. Riordan of Chicago.

Father Conaty is highly esteemed by Archbishop Williams of Massachusetts, and is well known as a church and scholastic lecturer, besides being one of the leading total abstinence advocates of the country. He was twice president of the Father Matthew Total Abstinence society. He was educated at the Sulpician Institute in Montreal, and later was honored with the title of D. D. by Georgetown university. He is of Irish descent, and about 45 years old. It was currently reported at the university, after the choice became known, that Cardinal Batelli stated two years ago, after meeting Father Conaty, that he was pre-eminently fitted for the head of the university, and that at the reception tendered him before his departure for Rome, the cardinal remarked that his feelings were toward Father Conaty. From this it is felt that the pope's decision in favor of Father Conaty is assured in advance.

Fourteen May Have Perished. San Francisco, Oct. 22.—The number of people who lost their lives in the storm, off the entrance to Coos bay, has been variously estimated, but it seems clear that 14 persons in all were drowned, though the Oregon Coal and Navigation company's officers say they have record of only 12 deaths. The Aragoa struck stern first, crushing a great hole in her plates. She listed heavily to, and sank by the stern, touching bottom in five fathoms, and leaving only her spars above water. The sea was very rough, with a heavy surf breaking on the beach, and it is said by men of experience, that the bodies will never be recovered, as they would be buried in sand.

A Portland Woman's Protest. Portland, Me., Oct. 21.—Mrs. Stevens, president of the Maine Woman's Christian Temperance union, yesterday issued the following message to the commissioner of Immigration at New York, in reference to the Armenian refugees, whose right to land in this country is in question: "We protest against sending back the refugee Armenians. Pitying hearts are ready to welcome them, homes are open to receive them, and there is work for them to do. We implore that they have a chance to breathe and live in this Christian land."

Boys Said Nothing About It. Rutland, Vt., Oct. 19.—John W. Wiley, 15 years old, with a number of other boys, went out hunting Saturday and was accidentally shot, according to the report of the boys, who say the gun was discharged as Wiley was pulling it through a rail fence with the barrel pointing toward him. The boys fled as soon as the accident occurred, and failed to notify any one of the affair. Some time afterward he was found in terrible agony, and was removed to the Rutland hospital, where he died.

Vicious Youngster in Prison. Providence, Oct. 20.—Willie Davis, 13 years old, who has been called the "Jesse Pomeroy of Rhode Island," was found guilty yesterday afternoon of assault with a dangerous weapon upon Willie Chase. The assault took place last August. The Davis boy stole his father's razor, and going to the Chase tenement, in the absence of the Chase boy's mother, slashed the lad across the neck with the razor. He was sentenced to the reform school during his minority.

Prince Accepts. Boston, Oct. 21.—Frederick O. Prince, the nominee for governor of the Gold Democracy, sent a letter yesterday to the chairman of the National Democratic state committee, formally accepting the nomination. The nominee states that he is glad that the true democracy thinks the honor of the republic is dearer than party success. "Better," he says, "defeat with honor than a tarnished victory." He expresses an earnest hope that the "good cause" will win.

Schoolmaster Fined For Assault. Brockton, Mass., Oct. 21.—William H. Sanderson, superintendent of schools at Bridgewater, was ordered to pay a fine of $10, by Judge Reid, for alleged assault on James R. Wall, an 11-year-old pupil at the Model school at Bridgewater. Sanderson appealed, and was held in $100 for the superior court. Mr. Sanderson claims that the alleged assault was merely a deserved punishment, administered to the boy, who was unruly.

Senator Morrill Re-elected. Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 21.—Justin S. Morrill of Strafford was yesterday re-elected United States senator from Vermont. In the senate, no other name was presented, and Senator Morrill received the entire 30 votes. In the house, Morrill received 213 votes, and Herbert F. Brigham of Bakersfield, Democratic candidate, received 17. In the joint assembly today, Senator Morrill's election was formally ratified.

Held For Manslaughter. Boston, Oct. 19.—The police have arrested Patrick Brady, 42 years old, on the charge of manslaughter. On Sept. 17 Brady assaulted his wife, kicking her about the breast and head, inflicting her so severely that she was obliged to go to the hospital. In the past day or two Mrs. Brady has fallen rapidly. She died yesterday from the effects of the assault.

A Peculiar Accident. Walpole, Mass., Oct. 21.—Thomas Gaffney, employed at the Chandler Adjustable Desk company, attempted to put a board in a circular saw yesterday, when the board flew back, and hit him with great force in the abdomen. Gaffney was taken to his home, suffering intense pain, and the doctors have but little hope of his recovery.

An Insane Asylum Scandal. Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 22.—Dr. Geddings, superintendent of the state insane asylum at Waterbury, was arrested yesterday, on charges of alleged mistreatment of female patients at the institution, and a more serious offense is also mentioned in the warrant. There are more than 500 patients in the asylum.

NEARING SOLUTION.

People at Large Contributed Toward Settling Venezuelan Question.

London, Oct. 20.—The following official statement regarding Venezuela was issued last evening: "There is, happily, a better feeling manifested on both sides of the water between the respective peoples, and it frequently happens that manifestations of this kind help governments to an amicable conclusion, which would otherwise be impracticable. Regarding the allegation that Sir Julian Pauncefote has returned to America, charged with a mission having for its object the settlement of the dispute, the patent fact is that he all along has had such a mission. He has returned to Washington with certain instructions, and negotiations will be reopened immediately on his arrival. But it is too early to say whether or not the proposals of the British government are likely to be accepted."

Robbers Convicted of Murder. Middletown, Conn., Oct. 22.—Edward Rogers, a Canadian woodchopper, charged with the murder of Timothy L. Parmelee, at Cobalt, on the night of Feb. 23, was found, yesterday, guilty of murder in the second degree, and was sentenced by Judge Elmer to the state prison at Wethersfield for life. Attorney Hall, the junior counsel for the defense, entered an appeal, and was given 10 days to file exceptions. Pending the appeal, Rogers was remanded to Hadden Hall. The trial has consumed 10 days, and it is said the expense to the state will be about $15,000. Rogers is 45 years old, and his victim was about 70. Parmelee lived alone, and was reputed to have considerable money in his possession, and robbery was the alleged motive. Nothing but some small coins and a watch were found in Rogers' possession. A tailor's goose and a stove poker were used to commit the deed.

Possible Extirpation of Deer. Bangor, Me., Oct. 19.—The slaughter of game in the Maine woods has been so great since the opening of the season that many are deeply concerned over the possible extermination of the deer, moose and caribou. The average number of caribou that pass through Bangor daily is 40 deer. There are 70 days in the open season, and if the average holds good it will make the total passing through Bangor about 2800 deer. In addition to the great number which will be legally killed, there is fully one-half as many more killed by poachers and lumbermen.

Wheat Away Up. Chicago, Oct. 20.—Wheat made a record-breaking jump yesterday. The December option, which closed Saturday at 75½, opened yesterday morning at 78½ and 79½, standing at the latter figure, an advance of 3½ cents. The wildest excitement characterized the trading. There was talk of possible failures as a result of the unparalleled advance. After a momentary reaction to 79, December wheat soon went beyond the top figures at the opening, touching as high as 79½ several times within the first 15 minutes.

Enfield's Big Fire. Enfield, Mass., Oct. 20.—This town was visited yesterday by the most destructive fire in its history. The business section of the town was completely wiped out, and property was destroyed entailing a loss of $25,000. A strong west wind fanned the flames, and the firemen were powerless to check the progress of the flames. Aid was asked from surrounding towns, and a steamer was sent from Athol, which did effective work. Many buildings, which caught fire from sparks, were saved.

Explained by Terrell. Constantinople, Oct. 22.—In an interview yesterday, United States Minister Terrell said that the relations of the United States with Turkey were of the most cordial character. Not a single American citizen had been sacrificed during the late massacre in Constantinople, he said, and it was highly improbable that the United States government would depart from its traditional policy of non-intervention by meddling with Turkey's domestic affairs.

Young Dibble Inane. North Adams, Mass., Oct. 19.—C. W. Dibble, aged 22 years, Williams, 1900, and the phenomenal half-back of the football team, became suddenly insane Saturday afternoon. His ankle was sprained in the game of Oct. 10, and since then he has resided with relatives in this city. He has complained of a headache since the Harvard game of Oct. 3. His physician thinks he is suffering from an abscess of the brain, and that his recovery is doubtful.

A Discouraged Young Fellow. Springfield, Mass., Oct. 22.—Victor Bathrick, 18 years of age, attempted suicide about 10:30 last night, by shooting himself with a revolver through the lungs. The young man froze his feet last winter so badly that both were amputated, and since that time he has been addicted to the use of morphine. He stated last night that life is not worth living, and that he hoped the bullet would prove fatal.

Heavy Robbery at New Bedford. New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 17.—Diamonds valued at $5000 and other jewels are missing from the residence of Mrs. Edward C. Jones on County street. Burglars got into the house last night while the family was dining, and after ransacking in a pretty thorough manner the upper rooms, escaped without leaving a clew. Mrs. Jones has offered a $500 reward for the recovery of the jewels.

Accident and Exposure. Amesbury, Mass., Oct. 21.—Judge G. W. Cate has filed a return at Salem of an inquest held on the mysterious death of Arthur Robertshaw, March 30, once a wealthy citizen. Many thought he had been murdered. Judge Cate found death due from an accident, followed by exposure.

Seventy Thousand Members. Boston, Oct. 20.—The 70,000 mark has been reached in the membership of the League of American Wheelmen. The number of members elected during the past month was 523, making the present total 70,203. New York increased her lead over all divisions, while Pennsylvania got another lap on Massachusetts.

Mrs. Beale Gets a Divorce. Augusta, Me., Oct. 21.—Harriet Blaine Beale, with her attorney, Leslie C. Cornish, appeared before Judge Whitehouse of the supreme court yesterday, and Mrs. Beale asked for a divorce from her husband, Truxton Beale. Mr. Cornish made a brief talk, and the divorce was decreed.

Edward Adams has refused the commission of deputy warden for precinct 2, which was conferred upon him recently by the selectmen. They say at the Centre that the selectmen cover "Ed" with that kind of a blanket. So the deputyship goes to John Barker.

Several from town attended the McKinley-Hobart-Knox-Derbyshire flag raising in Lawrence Wednesday night, but a great many more will attend the vote raising contests in precincts one and two November 3, in the interests of the same quartette.

To-morrow from 12 o'clock noon till 10 o'clock p. m. will be the last opportunity for registering the names of voters, prior to the November election. Does your name appear properly registered? If not call upon the registrars at the Selectmen's office before closing time to-morrow night.

James M. Craig, a hitherto well known temperance man is said to have changed his cold water ideas and since a recent trip to Lawrence, is strongly in favor of "unlimited license," having received a diploma of this character from the state authorities on account of his capability for running boilers. Patrick Healey of the high school also took his examination before the board of examiners at Lawrence yesterday.

The Women's Guild of St. Paul's, do sire to give notice that any person, who purchased a ticket for the lecture by Mrs. Downs on March 3rd, which was indefinitely postponed on account of stormy weather, may receive again the money thus paid by calling upon the treasurer, Miss Sara Shepard, Maple Avenue, and Third Street, before November 1st. Any money unclaimed for by that date will be devoted to the charitable work of the Parish.

Funeral services over the late Mrs. William Jaing a former resident, who died in Atkinson, N. H., recently were conducted by Rev. E. S. Thomas at the home of her son-in-law Lewis C. Wentworth of Second Street, last Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. There was a good attendance of neighbors and friends at the funeral and several beautiful floral tributes told of the regard in which she was held. Messrs J. G. Brown, John Mills, Robert Elliot and William Markie were bearers. The interment was in Ridgewood Cemetery.

The harvest concert at the Methodist church Sunday evening, conducted by Supt. Edmunds, was full of instruction and as interesting as usual. Flowers and autumn foliage with the products of orchard and field, were artistically arranged by Mrs. Jenness, and ornamented the centre platform and sides of the church. The exercises of the evening included: recitations by Faith Hayes, Fred Morton, Maggie Dame; singing Mrs. Edmunds, Miss Wignal, Mrs. Naylor, Miss Keeler; exercise by Miss Brierley's class; recitations Harry Hayes, Eddie Townd, Amanda Reed; reading Miss Mabel Jenness; recitations, Clara Hayes, Mildred Blackstock, Lillian Dawsey; reading Eliza Rand; exercise by Miss Hannah Hayes' class; recitations by Percy Reed, George Gile; reading Miss Marion Paul; reading Miss Jennie Wignal; solo Miss Schofield; recitations Violet Dick, Fannie Hayes, Tina Littlefield; remarks by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Wignal. The various exercises were interspersed by singing by the choir and school.

Three busy "B's" had charge of the supper at the Obitable Union last evening, and the spread was a most beautiful one. Dull weather kept many sociable people at home, but the evening was a most enjoyable one to those who attended. The committee in charge of the spread were Miss Laura A. Bailey, Mrs. Albert Berry and Mrs. E. R. Bishop.

It is now said that the illness of Railroad Commissioner Dale is rather more severe than at first reported and is in the nature of a nervous shock. His weakened condition has not allowed his removal from the Springfield city hospital, where he is still under treatment, although he was expected home Monday or Tuesday.

The democratic brethren have started the political ball rolling and last evening was given to inspiring and encouraging apathetic voters of this town, and urging them on to the battle of the ballots in November. There was a fair attendance and at times there was liberal applause as the various speakers warned to the subject of the hour. Horace B. Foster presided, and the speakers were J. H. Harrington of Lowell, Dr. Sullivan, Maurice Hennessey and Representative Joseph J. Flynn of Lawrence. The last named speaker was well received and in aspiring to the senate rests his case upon his record in behalf of the laboring classes, during his service of two years as representative.

Wednesday evening several members of the local chapter of the Epworth league wended their way to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. William Dillon on Cedar Street, Lawrence, to the surprise and gratification of the occupants of that snug little home. In the representing the assembled friends Miss H. D. Brierly tendered Mr. and Mrs. Dillon with a handsome framed painting and her words of warm friendship were responded to by the host with words of greeting and of thankful appreciation because of their remembrance. During the evening social pleasures were supplemented by a dainty collation.

Maj. Miller Gives a Receipt for Destruction of Army Moth.

With all due regard for superintendent Doogue's statement in regard to the army moth, allow me to make known through your paper a far surer and better way to get rid of this pest. I am surer because for years I have given this receipt to many farmers, and in every instance it has been a complete success. I have tried it myself, over and over again, not only on army worms, but on other vegetable destructive worms. Then it is made simple. Every farmer has an old kettle, a tight barrel and some kind of a sprayer, that is all that is necessary. This sure and simple remedy is an emulsion composed of the following ingredients and proportions:

One pound hard soap (16 oz) cut in shavings.
Two pounds sal soda.
One pound flower of sulphur.
One quart kerosene oil.
Eight gallons of rain water.
Boil the above (and when I say boil I mean boil) for an hour, stirring from time to time until all is well mixed. More or less, according to this proportion, can be made and kept in a barrel ready for use. Before using stir up well and apply with a sprayer. When the army worm is approaching, around the edges or borders of your fields, or if the worm has taken possession then apply it anywhere or everywhere. It is sure death to the army worm in all its stages, even the eggs in its protecting shield will be destroyed. This ingredient has such power of penetration that no army worm, eggs or germs in all its stages can stand before it. The moment the worm comes in touch with the liquid it's doom is sealed.

Let me also state in regard to the gypsy moth, that it is folly to think that it cannot be destroyed without Paris green, etc. Large appropriations are yearly made for this purpose, but instead of destroying the pest it is gaining ground. These things ought not to be so; it is folly to use Paris green, etc., for this purpose, endangering life and destroying property, and then accomplishing what? Using up the appropriations, that is about all. Now, Mr. Editor, I guarantee that the above ingredients (except adding twice the amount of oil to the quantity as stated) will destroy all life of the gypsy moth, eggs, germs, spores in a short time, and save many thousand dollars to the state. I know what I am talking about and whereof I speak, from many years of experience in Europe and America.

If your children are subject to croup watch for the first symptom of the disease - hoarseness. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse it will prevent the attack. Even after the croupy cough has appeared the attack can always be prevented by giving this remedy. It is also invaluable for colds and whooping cough. For sale by Arthur Bliss, druggist.

According to a celebrated antagonist there are upwards of 5,000,000 little glands in the human stomach. These glands pour out the digestive juices which dissolve or digest the food. Indigestion is want of juice, weakness of glands, need of help to restore the health of these organs. The best and most natural help is that given by Shaker Digestive Cordial. Natural, because it supplies the materials needed by the glands to prepare the digestive juices. Because it strengthens and invigorates the glands and the stomach, until they are able to do their work alone. Shaker Digestive Cordial cures indigestion certainly and permanently. It does so by natural means, and therein lies the secret of its wonderful and unvaried success. At druggists, price 10 cents to $1.00 per bottle.
